ROJESTVENSKY PASSES AWAY

Famous Russian Admiral Dies
Suddenly in Germany.

VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE

Cardiac Affection Believed to Have Resulted From Injuries Received During the Battle of the Sea of Japan, When Fleet Under His Command Was Defeated by the Japanese Commanded by Togo.

Bad Neuheim, Germany, July 21.—Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the ill-fated Russian fleet which was annihilated by the Japanese in the Sea of Japan in May, 1905, died here from heart trouble. It is believed that heart affection resulted from injuries received by Admiral Rojestvensky in the Sea of Japan.

Sinovi Petrovitch Rojestvensky was about sixty years of age and for many years bore the reputation of being one of the most cool-headed and scientific naval officers in the Russian navy. He distinguished himself in the Russo-Turkish war in 1877 by an attack on a Turkish ironclad in a gunboat, the Vesla. He was promoted to commander in 1885 and was appointed naval attaché to the Russian embassy in England. While in England, Rojestvensky closely studied the organization and equipment of the British navy. Later the command of the cruiser Vladimir Monomach was given to him, after which he commanded the battleship Peresviet. He was Admiral Alexieff's second in command of the Russian squadron in the Far East in the Chino-Japanese war, which made him familiar with the waters of Japan and China.

In 1892 he was promoted to the rank of rear admiral and made an aide-de-camp to the emperor and succeeded

Admiral Avellan as chief of the naval headquarters staff and head of the intelligence department of the Russian navy. In this capacity he supervised the equipment of the Second Russian Pacific squadron, which he afterward commanded and took to the Far East. The journey of that ill-fated fleet, ending in defeat in the Sea of Japan by the Japanese fleet commanded by Admiral Togo, is a matter of history. The battle began on May 27 and lasted until the afternoon of May 28 and included a general engagement and a torpedo attack on the night of May 27. The Kniaz Souvaroff, Ad-VICE ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY. Admiral Rojestvensky's nagastip, was blown up, and the admiral himself was seriously wounded. He was rescued by a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, which was afterwards captured by the Japanese, who took Rojestvensky prisoner.

A naval court of inquiry on June 7, 1906, presented an indictment against Admiral Rojestvensky for surrendering to the enemy, but on July 10 the admiral was acquitted on the ground that he was not in his full senses (he was found unconscious from his severe injuries), and therefore was not accountable for what happened at the time of the surrender.

Killed an Intruder.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 21.—Frank Harter, a well known bachelor of the town of Otto, Ottertail county, was shot dead by John Lida, a neighbor, whose house Harter tried to enter armed with a dangerous looking knife. Harter was crazed by infatuation for a young woman and it is thought that his manner of approaching Lida's house was due to insanity. Lida gave himself up to the authorities and Conover Haugen went from here to investigate the case.

Killed by a Policeman.

Virginia, Minn., July 21.—Matt Trekka, a Finnish miner at Virginia, was shot and killed by Chief of Police Ellis Walsh. The miner and a companion had been disorderly and the chief tried to arrest them. Trekka resisted arrest and struck at the chief with a bottle. Then he started to run. The chief pursued him, fired a warning shot in the air, which was unheeded, and then shot Trekka.

LOVE IN AN ART GALLERY.

American Saw a Painting, Found and Married the Original.

A romantic story of Harold Abbott Titcomb, a wealthy American mining engineer, who fell in love with a picture in the Tate gallery at London and married the original of it the other day, has been told in London. Mr. Titcomb is a direct descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, the lovers in Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish."

Visiting two years ago the Tate gallery, he fell in love with the face of the younger girl in Ralph Peacock's painting "The Sisters."

So fascinated was he with the beauty of the girl that he wrote to the artist asking for a copy of the painting. Some time later he met at the artist's house Miss Ethel Brignall, the original of the picture and sister-in-law of the artist.

Like his ancestor, Mr. Titcomb was successful in his wooing. He spoke for himself and married the maiden in the pretty little parish church of Beddington. The bride, in a classical gown of white embroidered with silver, and the bridegroom, dark and good looking, made a remarkably handsome couple.

The bride's train was carried by a tiny nephew, Roydon Peacock, the original of Ralph Peacock's picture "Roydon," exhibited at this year's academy. Mr. Peacock's present to the bridegroom was his latest painting of the bride.

PARTY LEADERS IN GRAVE PERIL

Accident Occurs During Auto Trip in Colorado.

CAR GOES INTO DEEP GULLY

Passengers Jump and Escape Injury.

But Chauffeur Is Hurt—Machine in Which Frank H. Hitchcock, Taft's Campaign Manager, Is Riding Nearly Collides With Another Car and Both Were in Danger of Going Into the Ditch.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 21.—The first session of the Republican leaders with Chairman Frank Hitchcock of the national committee lasted about six hours. During that time members of the national committee and the chairmen of the state central committees from sixteen states and the territories addressed the assembly and explained state conditions. After the session ended Mr. Hitchcock talked individually with the leaders from the Western states for the purpose of working out with still greater detail plans for opening and conducting the campaign. The greatest enthusiasm was displayed by all the participants in the conference.

Because of the late arrival of some of the Western leaders, no effort was made to get together in the forenoon. Instead the men who had already assembled secured automobiles and made a tour of the Garden of the Gods and Manitou Springs. The machine carrying C. C. Bursum, the chairman of the New Mexico committee, and W. E. Martin, a Republican leader of that territory, and T. L. Weed, one of Mr. Hitchcock's clerks, stalled on a steep hill approaching the balanced rock, and through the failure of the brake, suddenly started down hill backwards.

Passengers Jumped.

The chauffeur commanded his passengers to jump, and they succeeded in clearing the car just as it reached the brink of a deep gully. The car turned turtle and was wrecked on the rocks below with the chauffeur, Thaddeus Thomasewski, underneath. He was not seriously hurt. Two cars were closely following the wrecked machine. In one, Mr. Hitchcock was riding, and in the other was James T. Williams, Jr., of Washington, D. C., who is associated with Mr. Hitchcock. Through prompt action on the part of the drivers of these machines a collision was averted, but both cars and their occupants were in danger of being carried over the brink. The portion of the road where the accident occurred is dangerous for automobiles and most drivers take wide detours to avoid it.

The representatives of all the states and territories invited by Mr. Hitchcock to meet here having arrived in the afternoon, with the exception of Nevada, it was decided to go on with the conference. Mr. Hitchcock addressed his co-workers briefly and explained that he brought them together to broaden their labors and secure co-operation of their efforts. After that all of the men present talked about conditions in their states. They recited the shortcomings in the management of the national campaigns in past years as it affected their state and general discussion was held to devise means of remedying any defects that had been felt. The conference described the meeting as a "stocktaking" session.

The representatives from California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming declared in positive terms that their states can be carried for Taft and Sherman, but at the same time insisted that the campaigns there should be carried on with the greatest vigor, the enthusiasm extending to Oklahoma and Texas and to the territories.

Mother Accuses Her Son.

New York, July 21.—John A. Van Rennselaer, son of Mrs. John King Van Rennselaer, and a member of one of New York's oldest families, has been taken into custody on a charge of attempted extortion. The arrest was made on advices from Chief of Police Crowley of Newport, R. I., who received a complaint from Mrs. Van Rennselaer that her son had written a letter threatening her bodily harm unless she provided him with funds. Van Rennselaer is thirty-four years of age and married.

Two Killed by Explosion.

Joplin, Mo., July 21.—Two men were killed and a third was seriously hurt by a premature shot explosion in the Red Dog mine at Webb City.

CLEAR UP MYSTERY.

Footman Tells How Paris Banker Was Murdered.

Paris, July 21.—One of the murder mysteries of Paris has been cleared up by the confession of Courtols, the footman arrested on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Auste Remy, a wealthy retired banker, who was stabbed to death on June 6 in his home in this city. Jewelry belonging to the murdered banker was found in the footman's possession and when he was first arrested he denied having been in any way connected with the murder, asserting that he had found the jewelry, together with a sum of money, hidden in the cellar of the banker's home.

In his confession, Courtols described to the police how he and the butler, Renard, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of complicity in the murder, crept into the banker's room in the middle of the night and how Renard stabbed the banker to death while Courtols held him on the bed. Afterwards they washed the blood stains from their hands and clothing and took the money and jewelry from Madame Remy's room. They then arranged the house to give the impression that the crime had been committed by burglars.

Foresters at St. Paul.

St. Paul, July 21.—The third biennial session of the supreme lodge of the United Order of Foresters was called to order in the senate chamber of the old capitol by Supreme Ranger R. C. Sherrard of Chicago. Mayor Lawler welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city.

LABOR LEADERS CITED TO APPEAR IN COURT

Gompers and Mitchell May Be Punished for Contempt.

Washington, July 21.—In the Buck Stove and Range case, Justice Anderson of the district supreme court has summoned Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Secretary Frank Morrison of that organization, and John Mitchell of the executive council and former president of the United Mine Workers of America, to appear in court on Sept. 8, next, to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of the court's injunctive orders.

The citation is based on the petition of the Buck Stove and Range company of St. Louis, which alleges that an order issued by Justice Gould forbidding an alleged boycott by the American Federation of Labor has been violated by the public utterances and addresses of the three labor leaders named. It also stated that Gompers caused to be published in the Federationist, the official organ of the Federation, a certain article reflecting on the court's decision and in alleged open defiance printing the name of the Buck Stove and Range company in the "we don't patronize" list. Gompers is quoted as saying to several newspaper men:

"So far as I am concerned, I wish to state this: When it comes to a choice between surrendering my rights as a free American citizen or violating the injunction of the court, I do not hesitate to say that I shall exercise my rights as between the two."

Other editorial utterances of Gompers and Morrison are quoted, which are alleged to be offensive to the court's decision. John Mitchell, it is alleged, at a meeting of the United Mine Workers last January put to a vote a resolution imposing a fine of $5 on any member of that organization who purchased a stove or range of that company's make. The resolution provided for the expulsion of a member in default of payment of the fine.

TAFT TAKES PART.

Participates in Courthouse Dedication Exercises at Germantown, Va.

Hot Springs, Va., July 21.—Judge William H. Taft assisted in opening of court and in the dedication of the courthouse at Germantown, Va., five miles from Hot Springs. The subject of his speech was the administration of justice by the courts.

The strength of the judiciary, he declared, was based on the fact that it rested on the principle that the people share in the responsibility for the work of the courts, in the form of duty on juries and in other capacities.

He justified proper criticism of the courts by the people because of such criticism "those who administer justice shall feel that they are under the critical eye of men and women entitled to have justice administered without fear or favor."

Judge Taft was presented to the assembly by J. A. Rivercomb as the next president of the United States.

AMERICAN ATHLETES WIN MORE LAURELS

Exceed Expectations in Olympic Games in London.

London, July 21.—The second week of the Olympic contest at Shepherd's Bush began with the first day devoted principally to field sports. The track athletes were the stars and the programme contained many fast and exciting events. The American and British runners and jumpers gathered in the lion's share of the laurels, but the Americans exceeded even the expectations of their supporters.

The spectacular features were the seventeen trial heats of the 100-meters sprint and the eight trial heats of the 800-meters. These furnished several close and stirring finishes. In the sprints America captured eight heats and Great Britain four. J. A. Rector of the University of Virginia was the particular star, for he beat quite handily K. G. MacLeod of Cambridge, the holder of three 'varsity blues, who never before was beaten, and in doing so he beat the Olympic record for the distance of 10 1/2 seconds.

The names of Sheppard, Halstead and Beard, Americans, went up on the blackboards as the winners of their heats in the 800-meters race. Lunghi of Italy beat H. L. Coe of the University of Michigan in the excellent time of 1:57 1/2.

C. J. Bacon, Irish-American Athletic club, captured his heat of the 400 meters hurdle race in 57 seconds, winning by 25 yards, while Coe defeated Densham, the former British champion. The British won six and the Americans

Won Three of the Nine Heats

In the hurdles. The American colors were raised to the flag-pole three times, signifying victory in the finals in the 100-meters swimming, the standing broad jump and the bantam catch-as-catch-can wrestling. C. M. Daniels, New York Athletic club, the American champion, won the swimming event in the fast time of 1:08 1/2, which equals the Olympic record. De Halmay of Hungary was second, with Julius of Sweden third. L. G. Rich, Brookline Swimming club, finished fourth in the final.

The standing broad jumping contest was practically an American event, although no notable records were made. Ray Ewry, the American champion, being considerably behind his own record made at St. Louis. His greatest distance here was 10 feet, 11 inches. Tsiolittis, the Greek jumper, won second in this event, with 10 feet, 7 1/4 inches, one-fourth of an inch better than Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American Athletic club. J. A. Biller, Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A.; Platt Adams, New York Athletic club, and E. L. Holmes of Chicago and the English champion, Blear, were only a fraction of an inch behind Sheridan.

G. Mehnert, National Turnverein (American), took the final in the bantam wrestling, while George W. Gladstik, Chicago Athletic association, won his heat in the high diving competition. France won the medal for fencing.

The results of the day added three wins to America's score and one to France, the other nations not improving their positions. In the field event Greece added six points, while America picked up three. America is now only eight points behind the United Kingdom, the score reading: United Kingdom, 54; America, 46.

LABOR LEADERS CITED TO APPEAR IN COURT

Gompers and Mitchell May Be Punished for Contempt.

Washington, July 21.—In the Buck Stove and Range case, Justice Anderson of the district supreme court has summoned Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Secretary Frank Morrison of that organization, and John Mitchell of the executive council and former president of the United Mine Workers of America, to appear in court on Sept. 8, next, to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of the court's injunctive orders.

Other editorial utterances of Gompers and Morrison are quoted, which are alleged to be offensive to the court's decision. John Mitchell, it is alleged, at a meeting of the United Mine Workers last January put to a vote a resolution imposing a fine of $5 on any member of that organization who purchased a stove or range of that company's make. AMERICAN ATHLETES WIN MORE LAURELS

Exceed Expectations in Olympic Games in London.

London, July 21.—The second week of the Olympic contest at Shepherd's Bush began with the first day devoted principally to field sports. The track athletes were the stars and the programme contained many fast and exciting events. The American and British runners and jumpers gathered in the lion's share of the laurels, but the Americans exceeded even the expectations of their supporters.

The spectacular features were the seventeen trial heats of the 100-meters sprint and the eight trial heats of the 800-meters. These furnished several close and stirring finishes. In the sprints America captured eight heats and Great Britain four. J. A. Rector of the University of Virginia was the particular star, for he beat quite handily K. G. MacLeod of Cambridge, the holder of three varsity blues, who never before was beaten, and in doing so he beat the Olympic record for the distance of 10% seconds.

The names of Sheppard, Halstead and Beard, Americans, went up on the blackboards as the winners of their heats in the 800-meters race.

Lunghi of Italy beat H. L. Coe of the University of Michigan in the excellent time of 1:57%.

C. J. Bacon, Irish-American Athletic club, captured his heat of the 400 meters hurdle race in 57 seconds, winning by 25 yards, while Coe defeated Densham, the former British champion. The British won six and the Americans

in the hurdles. The American colors were raised to the flag-pole three times, signifying victory in the finals in the 100-meters swimming, the standing broad jump and the bantam catch-as-catch-can wrestling. C. M. Daniels, New York Athletic club, the American champion, won the swimming event in the fast time of 1:05%, which equals the Olympic record. De Halma of Hungary was second, with Julius of Sweden third. L. G. Rich, Brookline Swimming club, finished fourth in the final.

The standing broad jumping contest was practically an American event, although no notable records were made, Ray Ewry, the American champion, being considerably behind his own record made at St. Louis. His greatest distance here was 10 feet, 11 inches. Tsilolitis, the Greek jumper, won second in this event, with 10 feet, 7% inches, one-fourth of an inch better than Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American Athletic club. J. A. Biller, Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A.; Platt Adams, New York Athletic club, and E. L. Holmes of Chicago and the English champion, Bledar, were only a fraction of an inch behind Sheridan.

G. Mehnert, National Turnverein (American), took the final in the bantam wrestling, while George W. Gladnik, Chicago Athletic association, won his heat in the high diving competition. France won the medal for fencing.

The results of the day added three wins to America's score and one to France, the other nations not improving their positions. In the field event America added six points, while Greece picked up three. America is now only eight points behind the United Kingdom, the score reading: United Kingdom, 54; America, 46.

NEWS WORRIED THE NEBRASKAN

Mr. Bryan Disturbed by Tidings
From the East.

CLAIM PLANK IS WORTHLESS

Influential Eastern Democrats Notified
Presidential Candidate That Anti-
Injunction Plank of Denver Platform Was Hardly Worth the Paper
It Was Written on—Prohibition
Question Discussed.

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.—Influential
Eastern Democrats have notified William J. Bryan that in their opinion the anti-injunction plank of the platform adopted at Denver was hardly worth
the paper it was written on, the reason alleged by them being that the David B. Hill bill, passed by the senate, which is specifically endorsed by the Democracy, simply carried out the common law provision granting a jury trial in contempt cases "in the jurisdiction of the presiding judge."

The plank was drafted on the assumption that the Hill bill was passed only after it had been amended by Senator Allen of Nebraska to make the trial by jury provision mandatory
at the command of the defendant.

Mr. Bryan spent several anxious hours after he received this information. While reasonably sure of his ground, the allegation that he and the majority of the committee on resolutions had been tricked caused him to worry and he admitted that he was to have an inquiry set on foot.

The Associated Press correspondent
relieved his suspense by explaining to him that advices from Washington showed that the Hill bill, as finally adopted by the United States senate
in 1896, provided for the summary punishment by the court in direct contempt cases, but making it mandatory for the court to grant a trial by jury in all cases where such contempt was committed outside of the jurisdiction of the court, and where such jury trial was demanded by the accused.

Cleared Up Awkward Situation.

This was the Allen amendment as Bryan remembered it, and it cleared up what threatened to become an awkward situation for the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The part that the prohibition question will play in the campaign was talked over between Mr. Bryan and Wiley B. Phillips, editor of the California Voice of Los Angeles, who is returning from Columbus, O., where he was a delegate to the national Prohibition convention. "We agreed,"
said Mr. Phillips, "not to discuss for publication what was said at our conference."

Mr. Phillips, however, volunteered
the statement that a number of Prohibitionists would vote for Mr. Bryan as against their own candidate. He thought the prohibition movement would affect the vote in the close states and was unwilling to concede
many of these votes to Taft.

The appeal of Mr. Bryan to the farmers of the country for campaign contributions is bearing fruit. A number of responses have been received, the sums enclosed varying in amounts. Two old retired farmers from Omaha, one aged eighty-two and the other seventy-nine, preferred to deliver their contributions in person.
They hobbled up the pathway to Fairview and each placed in the hands of Mr. Bryan a $5 bill.

An appeal by Mr. Bryan to the Democratic newspapers of the country to begin the collection of funds for the campaign was one of the important happenings of the day.

HAZEL DREW MURDER CASE

New Developments in Mysterious
Crime Reported.

Troy, N. Y., July 21.—A new development in the case of the Hazel Drew murder has been reported by Officer
Powers. He says Mr. and Mrs. William Haffey, who live near Teal's pond, were driving from Troy during the early evening of Tuesday, July 7, the time Smith and Gunderman saw Hazel Drew alone on the road, when they noticed a runabout pulled to one side of the road alongside the pond. Down toward the pond was the indistinct
form of a tall man, who was brushing about in the thick brush near where the girl's hat was later found. It is figured as possible that the tall man in the brush may have been the mur-derer. The Haffeyes before meeting
the runabout met Smith and Gunder-man, who had passed Hazel and spoken to her. Mr. Haffey says he did not see anything of the girl.

NEWS WORRIED THE NEBRASKAN

Mr. Bryan Disturbed by Tidings
From the East.

CLAIM PLANK IS WORTHLESS

Influential Eastern Democrats Notified
Presidential Candidate That Anti-
Injunction Plank of Denver Platform Was Hardly Worth the Paper
It Was Written on—Prohibition
Question Discussed.

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.—Influential
Eastern Democrats have notified William J. Bryan that in their opinion the anti-injunction plank of the platform
adopted at Denver was hardly worth
the paper it was written on, the reason alleged by them being that the David B. Hill bill, passed by the senate, which is specifically endorsed by the Democracy, simply carried out
the common law provision granting a jury trial in contempt cases "in the jurisdiction of the presiding judge."

The plank was drafted on the assumption that the Hill bill was passed
only after it had been amended by Senator Allen of Nebraska to make
the trial by jury provision mandatory
at the command of the defendant.

Mr. Bryan spent several anxious hours after he received this information. While reasonably sure of his ground, the allegation that he and the majority of the committee on resolutions had been tricked caused him to worry and he admitted that he was
to have an inquiry set on foot.

The Associated Press correspondent
relieved his suspense by explaining to him that advice from Washington showed that the Hill bill, as finally adopted by the United States senate
in 1896, provided for the summary
punishment by the court in direct
contempt cases, but making it mandatory for the court to grant a trial by jury in all cases where such contempt was committed outside of the jurisdiction of the court, and where such jury trial was demanded by the accused.

Cleared Up Awkward Situation.

This was the Allen amendment as Bryan remembered it, and it cleared
up what threatened to become an awkward situation for the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The part that the prohibition question will play in the campaign was talked over between Mr. Bryan and Wiley B. Phillips, editor of the California Voice of Los Angeles, who is returning from Columbus, O., where he was a delegate to the national Prohibition convention. "We agreed,"
said Mr. Phillips, "not to discuss for publication what was said at our conference."

Mr. Phillips, however, volunteered
the statement that a number of Prohibitionists would vote for Mr. Bryan
as against their own candidate. He thought the prohibition movement
would affect the vote in the close
states and was unwilling to concede
many of these votes to Taft.

The appeal of Mr. Bryan to the farmers of the country for campaign contributions is bearing fruit. A number of responses have been received, the sums enclosed varying in amounts. Two old retired farmers
from Omaha, one aged eighty-two and the other seventy-nine, preferred to deliver their contributions in person.
They hobbled up the pathway to Fairview and each placed in the hands of
Mr. Bryan a $5 bill.

An appeal by Mr. Bryan to the Democratic newspapers of the country to begin the collection of funds
for the campaign was one of the important happenings of the day.

HAZEL DREW MURDER CASE

New Developments in Mysterious
Crime Reported.

Troy, N. Y., July 21.—A new development in the case of the Hazel Drew
murder has been reported by Officer
Powers. He says Mr. and Mrs. William Haffey, who live near Teal's pond,
were driving from Troy during the early evening of Tuesday, July 7, the time Smith and Gundersman saw Hazel Drew alone on the road, when they
noticed a runabout pulled to one side of the road alongside the pond. Down
toward the pond was the indistinct
form of a tall man, who was brushing
about in the thick brush near where the girl's hat was later found. It is figured as possible that the tall man in the brush may have been the mur-derer. The Haffeyes before meeting
the runabout met Smith and Gunder-man, who had passed Hazel and spoken to her. Mr. Haffey says he did not see anything of the girl.

HYDRANT CONTRACT IS EXTENDED

City Council Passed a Resolution Extending Contract with Waterworks Company

NO BONDS ORDERED ISSUED

Aldermen Bouck and Twohey Absented Themselves From Council at Critical Time

That the city council did not pass a resolution Monday evening issuing $120,000 in bonds for the construction of waterworks was due to the absence first of Alderman Bouck who asked that he be excused on the ground that his wife was sick, and later in the evening by Alderman Twohey, who objected to bonds being offered running from 10 to 15 years on the ground that those who favored such issue were trying to balk the waterworks project by offering bonds which could not be sold. Mr. Twohey also expressed the opinion that he was not interested in what it would cost the taxpayers 20 years hence. What he wanted was immediate action which would sell the bonds. Let our children take care of themselves was his statement.

Aldermen Zakariasen, Bouck, Drexler, Fogelstrom, Graham and Twohey were present when Vice President Farrar called the city council to order Monday evening. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

City Clerk Spencer read a communication from the agent of the state board of control, asking that the city lockup be provided with new bedding, a new heating plant and other things considered necessary. On motion the communication was referred to the committee on health, sewers and police.

A petition was read from Thos. H. Beare and James Smith asking the city to order the eating house of C. D. Herbert removed from North Sixth street. City Attorney Ryan called the attention of the city council to recent decision of the Minnesota supreme court holding the village of Preston liable for all damages where an obstruction was permitted in the street. On motion of Alderman Twohey, seconded by Alderman Zakariasen the council by unanimous vote requested the mayor to enforce the ordinance in the matter.

The street committee reported that work on paving South Broadway was progressing satisfactorily.

There was considerable discussion concerning the condition of East Oak street and the necessity of closing the street to travel during the work. Alderman Zakariasen moved that the city engineer be instructed to order sewer pipe for culverts for Oak street. Alderman Zakariasen withdrew his motion and a motion was made by Alderman Twohey that the matter of investigating and testing cement culvert pipe be left with the street committee and the city engineer. It was carried, all voting aye.

A list of delinquent electric light accounts was read and discussed. A motion was made and carried that all delinquents be given notice that unless the bills were paid within 15 days the lights would be shut off and the accounts turned over to the city attorney for collection.

Alderman Twohey called attention to a bad crossing at the corner of Third and Juniper streets and said that the street commissioner should repair the same and all similar places. Alderman Fogelstrom, chairman of the street committee, said that the street commissioner should have authority to hire more men and look after temporary repairs. Alderman Twohey said that such action had already been taken. A reference to the minutes of the last June meeting showed Alderman Twohey to be correct and the matter was dropped.

A. E. Losey appeared before the city council and asked permission to veneer with brick the building owned and occupied by Losey & Dean, on Front street. Such permission was on motion granted.

Alderman Twohey made a motion that all communications received and sent by any city officer should be made a matter of record by being filed with the city clerk. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Twohey that the city attorney have personal supervision of all papers, bonds, etc., in the hands of the special attorney in the waterworks and electric light matters and work in conjunction with him. On roll call all voted aye.

Special Attorney Polk presented a resolution ordering the issuing of bonds in the amount of $120,000, in accordance with the action of the voters of the city at the special election held July 14. The date of the bonds was set for Sept. 1st, 1908.

An informal expression of the members of the council showed Aldermen Drexler, Turcotte, Farrar and Graham favored 10 and 15 years and Aldermen Zakariasen, Bouck, Fogelstrom and Twohey wished to fix time at 10 to 15 years.

Alderman Farrar believed if the plant was successful the city could pay the bonds in 10 to 15 years. Alderman Twohey said those favoring the shorter period were trying to block the project and declared that he was ready to take the responsibility of going ahead on a long time basis.

Alderman Drexler stated that if he had not supposed that the plant would be able to pay out in 10 or 15 years he would not have considered it a good thing.

Alderman Bouck left the meeting. Alderman Twohey did not believe there would be any revenue in the next three years.

Mr. Ryan thought the question of profits was merely theory. He thought that the water rents should be cut rather than to accumulate a fund and provide for paying off the bonds. Alderman Fogelstrom believed that electric light rates should be reduced. Alderman Twohey did not believe that the current could be produced so as to sell for less than at present. The absence of Alderman Bouck did not leave three-quarters of the members present and the matter was dropped.

A resolution was read by the city clerk extending the contract for hydrant rental with the Minnesota Waterworks company. Alderman Fogelstrom thought all leaks which have existed for three or four months should first be stopped. No action was taken. President Johnson came in.

Attorney Ryan said he did not believe that the council should pass the order of business until the matter was settled. Mr. Tighe, he said was entitled to an answer one way or the other. Alderman Graham moved the resolution be adopted. Alderman Turcotte seconded the motion. The resolution was adopted all voting aye except Alderman Fogelstrom.

The liquor license application of P. E. McCabe, and accompanying bond, were presented and the license was ordered granted.

The application of W. E. Fitzharris for a license was presented. City Attorney Ryan stated that the partner of Mr. W. E. Fitzharris, Geo. Hoyt, had been convicted of violating the liquor laws within the past year, and that the license should not be granted.

Alderman Farrar moved that the bond be accepted and a license granted. President Johnson said he was willing to take his chances as the last license was in the name of Mr. Hoyt. Dr. Werner Hemstead stated that the partnership had been dissolved and Mr. Hoyt was going to leave the city. All voted yes except Aldermen Turcotte and Fogelstrom.

Wm Sinclair applied for a license for a saloon at 612 Laurel street, known as the National hotel saloon. On motion the bond was approved and license granted.

Andrew Carlson was granted a license for 608 Laurel street, known as the Chas. Peterson saloon.

An appeal from the commissioner appointed by Gov. Johnson to raise funds for the village of Clinton, Minn., recently devastated by a cyclone was referred to the finance committee.

The matter of fixing the length to term of the bonds came up again, there being three-fourths of the council present.

Alderman Twohey at once left the hall which broke the quorum for that purpose.

City Attorney Ryan brought up the matter of the road roller, and said that he did not believe the claim was well founded. He also stated that Mr. Dodge, counsel for the company, was present and would perhaps have something to say on the matter. Mr. Dodge proceeded to address the council. He stated that the sale was an absolute one with a warranty of only 30 days; that for nine months the company had no notice that the roller was not satisfactory; that there was no question as to the liability of the city. He suggested, however, that a committee of the council be appointed to confer with him and the city attorney in the matter. The street committee was so appointed, and the council then adjourned.

REILLY GETS THE CALE STOCK

Spirited Bidding for the Combined Stocks of Merchandise Offered

SEPARATE BIDS WERE LOW

Few Seemed to Care to Secure the Various Stocks When Offered Separately

There was a good sized crowd of merchants and others gathered at the Cale store this forenoon to attend the sale of the stocks of goods. The bidding was not specially strong on the stocks separately, but when the combined stocks and fixtures were offered the bidding became brisk. The high bids for the separate stocks were as follows:

Clothing, John Bye.....$ 5 000
Dry Goods, J. Orick.....3 250
Groceries, W. H. Cleary.....700

Total.....$ 9 450

Mr. Cleary started the ball rolling on the combined stock at $9,455. By bids varying from an advance of $5 to $150 the price offered climbed to $13,750, at which price it was secured by M. J. Reilly who was the only local bidder who stayed in the game. Mr. Cleary and Mr. Sonnesyn dropping out when $11,000 was reached. Immediately after the sale Mr. Reilly stated that he expected to sell the various stocks at once at private sale.

The hearing on confirmation of the sale will be held in Duluth this evening before the referee in bankruptcy. There is not the slightest doubt that the sale will be confirmed, and without a doubt the stock will be disposed of at once by Mr. Reilly to local parties.

COMMENCE WORK ON NEW BUILDING

R. Parker and A. Q. Parker Will Build Brick Block on Front Street

While Upper Story Will be Fitted up as Flat for Residence of Parker Family

I. U. White is preparing plans for a brick block to be erected on Front street, between the Cullen building, now in course of erection, and the Walker building. The new building will be 46 by 81 feet. The front 40 feet will be two stories in height, while the rear will be but one story, thus giving good light and ventilation for the flat which will occupy the upper story and which will be used as a residence by the Parker family. The front of the building will be a handsome design one in pressed brick and the building will be steam heated and electric lighted and modern in every respect.

Parker & Son will occupy the store room as soon as it is completed with a complete line of dry goods. Their many friends in the city will be glad to see them in trade here again.

A. P. Raymond, who is occupying the small building now on the site of the new building, will move into the wooden building used by Fred Luken as a store house, a few doors east of Mr. Raymond's present location, and will do business there until the new building is completed when he will have a small room on the east side of the new building, opening into a lobby on Front Street.

Work will be rushed on the building and Parker and Son hope to be ready for business by October first. They will use the wall of the Walker block and of the Cullen building and thus will have little wall building except the front and the roof, so will be able to make good time with their block.

ON THE WAY TO

British Battleship Indomitable's Entry in Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Quebec, July 21.—The British battleship Indomitable, having the Pina of Wales aboard, has come in without less touch with the British authorities here. She has entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence and is estimated to be some 600 miles from Quebec. She sailed last Tuesday and has evidently made a fast trip over, equalling and perhaps exceeding the record time for a battleship passage. The landing of the Prince of Wales is scheduled for Wednesday and the Indomitable will probably slow down so as not to be ahead of the arranged plan of ceremonies.

Earl Grey has received word that Vice President Fairbanks will arrive by train at Levis, opposite Quebec, Wednesday morning. A military guard of honor and officials of the governor general's staff will meet the vice president and escort him to Spencerwood, which is to be his official residence while here.

The arrival of the United States battleship New Hampshire increased the international fleet in the harbor to ten battleships. They are anchored in column of twos and present an imposing appearance.

HYDRANT CONTRACT IS EXTENDED

City Council Passed a Resolution Extending Contract with Waterworks Company

NO BONDS ORDERED ISSUED

Aldermen Bouck and Twohey Absented Themselves From Council at Critical Time

That the city council did not pass a resolution Monday evening issuing $120,000 in bonds for the construction of waterworks was due to the absence first of Alderman Bouck who asked that he be excused on the ground that his wife was sick, and later in the evening by Alderman Twohey, who objected to bonds being offered running from 10 to 15 years, on the ground that those who favored such issue were trying to balk the waterworks project by offering bonds which could not be sold. Mr. Twohey also expressed the opinion that he was not interested in what it would cost the taxpayers 20 years hence. What he wanted was immediate action which would sell the bonds. Let our children take care of themselves was his statement.

Aldermen Zakariasen, Bouck, Drexler, Fogelstrom, Graham and Twohey were present when Vice President Farrar called the city council to order Monday evening. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

City Clerk Spencer read a communication from the agent of the state board of control, asking that the city lockup be provided with new bedding, a new heating plant and other things considered necessary. On motion the communication was referred to the committee on health, sewers and police.

A petition was read from Thos. H. Beare and James Smith asking the city to order the eating house of C. D. Herbert removed from North Sixth street. City Attorney Ryan called the attention of the city council to recent decision of the Minnesota supreme court holding the village of Preston liable for all damages where an obstruction was permitted in the street. On motion of Alderman Twohey, seconded by Alderman Zakariasen the council by unanimous vote requested the mayor to enforce the ordinance in the matter.

The street committee reported that work on paving South Broadway was progressing satisfactorily.

There was considerable discussion concerning the condition of East Oak street and the necessity of closing the street to travel during the work. Alderman Zakariasen moved that the city engineer be instructed to order sewer pipe for culverts for Oak street. Alderman Zakariasen withdrew his motion and a motion was made by Alderman Twohey that the matter of investigating and testing cement culvert pipe be left with the street committee and the city engineer. It was carried, all voting aye.

A list of delinquent electric light accounts was read and discussed. A motion was made and carried that all delinquents be given notice that unless the bills were paid within 15 days the lights would be shut off and the accounts turned over to the city attorney for collection.

Alderman Twohey called attention to a bad crossing at the corner of Third and Juniper streets and said that the street commissioner should repair the same and all similar places. Alderman Fogelstrom, chairman of the street committee, said that the street commissioner should have authority to hire more men and look after temporary repairs. Alderman Twohey said that such action had already been taken. A reference to the minutes of the last June meeting showed Alderman Twohey to be correct and the matter was dropped.

A. E. Losey appeared before the city council and asked permission to veneer with brick the building owned and occupied by Losey & Dean, on Front street. Such permission was on motion granted.

Alderman Twohey made a motion that all communications received and sent by any city officer should be made a matter of record by being filed with the city clerk. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Twohey that the city attorney have personal supervision of all papers, bonds, etc., in the hands of the special attorney in the waterworks and electric light matters and work in conjunction with him. On roll call all voted aye.

Special Attorney Polk presented a resolution ordering the issuing of bonds in the amount of $120,000, in accordance with the action of the voters of the city at the special election held July 14. The date of the bonds was set for Sept. 1st, 1908.

An informal expression of the members of the council showed Aldermen Drexler, Turcotte, Farrar and Graham favored 10 and 15 years and Aldermen Zakariasen, Bouck, Fogelstrom and Twohey wished to fix time at 10 to 15 years.

Alderman Farrar believed if the plant was successful the city could pay the bonds in 10 to 15 years. Alderman Twohey said those favoring the shorter period were trying to block the project and declared that he was ready to take the responsibility of going ahead on a long time basis.

Alderman Drexler stated that if he had not supposed that the plant would be able to pay out in 10 or 15 years he would not have considered it a good thing.

Alderman Bouck left the meeting. Alderman Twohey did not believe there would be any revenue in the next three years.

Mr. Ryan thought the question of profits was merely theory. He thought that the water rents should be cut rather than to accumulate a fund and provide for paying off the bonds. Alderman Fogelstrom believed that electric light rates should be reduced. Alderman Twohey did not believe that the current could be produced so as to sell for less than at present. The absence of Alderman Bouck did not leave three-quarters of the members present and the matter was dropped.

A resolution was read by the city clerk extending the contract for hydrant rental with the Minnesota Waterworks company. Alderman Fogelstrom thought all leaks which have existed for three or four months should first be stopped. No action was taken. President Johnson came in.

Attorney Ryan said he did not believe that the council should pass the order of business until the matter was settled. Mr. Tighe, he said was entitled to an answer one way or the other. Alderman Graham moved the resolution be adopted. Alderman Turcotte seconded the motion. The resolution was adopted all voting aye except Alderman Fogelstrom.

The liquor license application of P. E. McCabe, and accompanying bond, were presented and the license was ordered granted.

The application of W. E. Fitzharris for a license was presented. City Attorney Ryan stated that the partner of Mr. W. E. Fitzharris, Geo. Hoyt, had been convicted of violating the liquor laws within the past year, and that the license should not be granted.

Alderman Farrar moved that the bond be accepted and a license granted. President Johnson said he was willing to take his chances as the last license was in the name of Mr. Hoyt. Dr. Werner Hemstead stated that the partnership had been dissolved and Mr. Hoyt was going to leave the city. All voted yes except Aldermen Turcotte and Fogelstrom.

Wm Sinclair applied for a license for a saloon at 612 Laurel street, known as the National hotel saloon. On motion the bond was approved and license granted.

Andrew Carlson was granted a license for 608 Laurel street, known as the Chas. Peterson saloon.

An appeal from the commissioner appointed by Gov. Johnson to raise funds for the village of Clinton, Minn., recently devastated by a cyclone was referred to the finance committee.

The matter of fixing the length to term of the bonds came up again, there being three-fourths of the council present.

Alderman Twohey at once left the hall which broke the quorum for that purpose.

City Attorney Ryan brought up the matter of the road roller, and said that he did not believe the claim was well founded. He also stated that Mr. Dodge, counsel for the company, was present and would perhaps have something to say on the matter. Mr. Dodge proceeded to address the council. He stated that the sale was an absolute one with a warranty of only 30 days; that for nine months the company had no notice that the roller was not satisfactory; that there was no question as to the liability of the city. He suggested, however, that a committee of the council be appointed to confer with him and the city attorney in the matter. The street committee was so appointed, and the council then adjourned.

REILLY GETS THE CALE STOCK

Spirited Bidding for the Combined Stocks of Merchandise Offered

SEPARATE BIDS WERE LOW

Few Seemed to Care to Secure the Various Stocks When Offered Separately

There was a good sized crowd of merchants and others gathered at the Cale store this forenoon to attend the sale of the stocks of goods. The bidding was not specially strong on the stocks separately, but when the combined stocks and fixtures were offered the bidding became brisk. The high bids for the separate stocks were as follows:

Clothing, John E. $ 5 000
Dry Goods, J. Orick 3 250
Groceries, W. H. Cleary 700

Total $ 9 450

Mr. Cleary started the ball rolling on the combined stock at $9,455. By bids varying from an advance of $5 to $150 the price offered climbed to $13,750, at which price it was secured by M. J. Reilly who was the only local bidder who stayed in the game, Mr. Cleary and Mr. Sonnesyn dropping out when $11,000 was reached. Immediately after the sale Mr. Reilly stated that he expected to sell the various stocks at once at private sale.

The hearing on confirmation of the sale will be held in Duluth this evening before the referee in bankruptcy. There is not the slightest doubt that the sale will be confirmed, and without a doubt the stock will be disposed of at once by Mr. Reilly to local parties.

COMMENCE WORK ON NEW BUILDING

While Upper Story Will be Fitted up as Flat for Residence of Parker Family

I. U. White is preparing plans for a brick block to be erected on Front street, between the Cullen building, now in course of erection, and the Walker building. The new building will be 46 by 81 feet. The front 40 feet will be two stories in height, while the rear will be but one story, thus giving good light and ventilation for the flat which will occupy the upper story and which will be used as a residence by the Parker family. The front of the building will be a handsome design one in pressed brick and the building will be steam heated and electric lighted and modern in every respect.

Parker & Son will occupy the store room as soon as it is completed with a complete line of dry goods. Their many friends in the city will be glad to see them in trade here again.

A. P. Raymond, who is occupying the small building now on the site of the new building, will move into the wooden building used by Fred Luken as a store house, a few doors east of Mr. Raymond's present location, and will do business there until the new building is completed when he will have a small room on the east side of the new building, opening into a lobby on Front Street.

Work will be rushed on the building and Parker and Son hope to be ready for business by October first. They will use the wall of the Walker block and of the Cullen building and thus will have little wall building except the front and the roof, so will be able to make good time with their block.

ON THE WAY TO

British Battleship Indomitable's Entry at Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Quebec, July 21.—The British battleship Indomitable, having the Prince of Wales aboard, has come in wireless touch with the British authorities here. She has entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence and is estimated to be some 600 miles from Quebec. She sailed last Tuesday and has evidently made a fast trip over, equalling and perhaps exceeding the record time for a battleship passage. The landing of the Prince of Wales is scheduled for Wednesday and the Indomitable will probably slow down so as not to be ahead of the arranged plan of ceremonies.

Earl Grey has received word that Vice President Fairbanks will arrive by train at Levis, opposite Quebec, Wednesday morning. A military guard of honor and officials of the governor general's staff will meet the vice president and escort him to Spencerwood, which is to be his official residence while here.

The arrival of the United States battleship New Hampshire increased the international fleet in the harbor to ten battleships. They are anchored in column of twos and present an imposing appearance.

TIMBER TESTING MACHINE.

Device to Tell How Much Shock Structures Will Stand.

Bridge builders and contractors for buildings which are intended to carry variable loads will find much of interest in a unique machine designed by the United States government to help them to answer the question which comes up very often, How is the strength of wood affected by repeated shocks? At the present time no satisfactory answer can be given. To fill the need for information on this important subject a special form of impact machine has been designed by the United States forest service to investigate the behavior of wood under repetitive loading, and it is to be built by the University of Washington at Seattle, Wash., and is to form a part of the forest service timber testing station operated in co-operation with the university.

This machine will be provided with a 1,500 pound hammer which can be dropped upon the wood specimens under test from any height up to three feet, says a forest service bulletin. It is so constructed as to be both automatic and autographic. The record showing the behavior of the specimen under test is drawn on a long sheet of paper which constantly unwinds from one cylinder and rolls up on another. This record is drawn by means of a pencil attached to the hammer of the machine. When the machine is started the hammer is automatically raised to a height previously determined, when it falls on the specimen and continues to be raised and dropped until the machine is stopped.

From the results to be obtained from the tests made with this machine the forest service hopes to be able to devise more accurate and reliable methods for calculating the stresses which timbers used in bridges and other structures subject to repetitive loading have to stand.

WHY TURNING HOUSE FAILED.

Mrs. Brace Used to Keep Brace Chasing the Front Stoop.

The recent statement that William Reiman, a jeweler, has had plans drawn for a revolving house at Bay-side, N. Y., caused much interest in Chatham, N. J., because the late George Brace of Meyersville, near Chatham, invented a house of the revolving kind a long time ago. Wesley Bond of Chatham, one of the carpenters employed on its construction, said the other day:

"The house was swung on a turntable, and the table was turned from the dining room. Brace was ingenious, and he combined the dining room table with the wheel to turn the house around, so that he could use the wheel for a table at meal hours and for a wheel when he wanted to turn the house around. His idea was to face the front porch and sleeping rooms toward the breeze in summer and away from the winds in winter.

"It was a great success as far as that feature went, but Brace found it inconvenient. He would come home somewhat overwrought at times, and Mrs. Brace when she heard him coming would turn the house around. The rest of the night he would spend chasing the front stoop. Finally he sent for me, and we plugged up the turntable. The house burned down a little while after that, and when Brace built a new one there wasn't any turning to it."

JOKE ON A DENVERITE.

"Merry Ha-ha" For Congratulator of Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Leavitt.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, President Roosevelt's daughter, told an amusing story the other day of her experience at a reception a few nights ago in Denver when she stood in line beside Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, William J. Bryan's eldest daughter.

An over-gallant Denverite approached.

Nursing Mothers and

Over-burdened Women

Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless remedy to prepare the system for baby's coming and relieving the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

"Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, inversion or retro-version or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

Mrs. Longworth gave him the famous Alice smile and bow, and the gallant passed on to where Mrs. Leavitt stood. "Mrs. Leavitt," he said, "I have voted for your father twice, and I hope to vote for him again."

Mrs. Longworth, who seemed to be busy receiving the next in line, turned and with a smile said, "Consistency, thy name is man." Both she and Mrs. Leavitt gave their congratulator the "merry ha-ha," and he glided away through the crowd.

Island For Caribou.

An island in Lake Superior has been stocked with caribou. Caribou Island, so named because it formerly was noted as a home for the animals, again shelters a herd. Six of the animals have recently been taken to the island, and it is expected they will largely increase in number. The caribou were procured in Newfoundland. The herd on Grand Island, the original members of which came from the Canadian wilds, is attaining goodly proportions. There are no hunters to molest or wolves to prey upon it.

Girl's Record Swim in Mississippi.

Miss Lottie Mayer, a courageous young woman with well developed biceps and a robust physique, swam twenty-six miles in the Mississippi from Alton, Mo., to St. Louis the other day, without missing a stroke to rest, in five hours and eighteen minutes. This swim, it is said, never has been made before, except once, nine years ago, when John C. Meyers, floating much of the way on his back, covered the distance in seven hours. Miss Mayer's feat is declared to break the world's record.

FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP.

Emperor of Germany May Send a Challenge.

Kiel, July 21.—The emperor of Germany at various times in the past eighteen months has talked over with yachtmen the feasibility of challenging for the America's cup. The emperor has mentioned the subject to visiting American yachtmen and to members of his suite and would regard the winning of the cup if a competition could be arranged, as a great feat of yachtmanship and as likely to stimulate German enthusiasm in the sport and indirectly advance national pride in things relative to the sea.

The emperor recently commissioned Max Oertz of Hamburg to design a large racing schooner to replace the American-built Meteor, now six years old. Herr Oertz is considered the best yacht designer in Germany. If the emperor's yacht comes up to expectations next June it is not unlikely that the emperor will send to the New York Yacht club a challenge for the America's cup. This however, depends almost entirely upon the performances of the new boat.

WOMAN ENDS THREE LIVES IN EAST RIVER

Sick Mother Drowns Herself and Two Children.

New York, July 21.—Despondent because of ill health and fearful of the fate which might await her two little children if they were left alone to face the world, Mrs. Gussie Benson sought peace for all beneath the waters of the East river. The bodies of the mother and her little ones lie side by side in the morgue awaiting burial.

For several years Mrs. Benson had lived with her husband and children on a South Dakota farm, but when her health failed she decided to return to her old home in this city. With her came the children, a boy of four and a girl of two years of age.

When the change of scene failed to have the hoped-for effect upon her health Mrs. Benson became despondent. She started for a walk with the little ones and did not return. The bodies of the unhappy mother and her children later were picked up in the river. It is believed that Mrs. Benson sprang from a ferryboat with the children in her arms.

Frank Harris Hitchcock

The New Napoleon of Politics, Who Engineered the Nomination of William H. Taft For President—An Enthusiastic Son of Ohio, Often Called "the Best Politician In the Country."

THE Republican national convention recently held at Chicago was a tremendous triumph for Frank Harris Hitchcock, the new Napoleon of politics. It was a great administration victory, President Roosevelt being successful in every move and forcing through his programme without material alteration on any point.

The man who made that possible, says the New York Times, who organized the victory and drilled the forces that won it, was Hitchcock.

It was interesting and amusing to see the way in which Hitchcock was followed about the streets and hotel corridors at Chicago by the admiring and curious outsiders who merely wanted a chance to look at the man who had nominated Secretary Taft for the presidency. It made no difference where Hitchcock was, there a group immediately gathered about him, and literally thousands of men and women shook his hand and introduced themselves to him merely for the satisfaction of meeting and talking for a moment with the newest dominating factor in the great national game.

It was all like wine to Hitchcock. He is naturally of a modest and extremely retiring disposition. He has the typical politician's inordinate love of mystery. No matter how trivial the thing he is doing, horses and log chains could not drag a word out of him about it until he is thoroughly ready to talk. And even then it is with the greatest difficulty that he forces himself to do the least thing in the publicity line.

But this spontaneous recognition at Chicago of the work he had done and ains a special reputation for political skill usually knows something of the game.

Genuine Ohio Enthusiast.

It was therefore inevitable that when young Hitchcock went to Harvard in the fall of 1887 he would know more about politics and have a greater interest in it than most of his classmates. Moreover, he had the genuine Ohio enthusiasm, which makes a man trudge miles over cobblestones in a downpour of rain just to take part in a campaign parade. He had had his early education in Boston and already knew the ins and outs of the ward contests. His Harvard experience added a new and interesting variation in the shape of college politics. When he left Cambridge in 1891 Hitchcock had a political equipment such as very few young men possess laid on the substantial foundation of a native Ohio enjoyment in the game.

After his graduation from Harvard Mr. Hitchcock went to Washington and became chief of the division of foreign markets in the department of agriculture. Biology was the special line of amusement he cultivated then. There is, of course, an analogy between biology, the science of life, and politics, the science of human nature. But while he was amusing himself with biology and incidentally studying law at the Columbian university Mr. Hitchcock was, as usual, finding his real enjoyment in the practical pursuit of politics. It was a dilettante, for from his place in the department of agriculture there was not much practical use to which he could put the results the victory he had won could not fail to afford him a keen satisfaction. He revealed himself in a new role there. During the day, when there was work to be done and consultations with Washington to be held, Hitchcock was almost never in view. He kept to his quarters, and one had to have something of genuine importance to discuss with him in order to be admitted, but in the evening, when the strenuousness of the day was out of the way, he developed a habit of mingling with the throngs of the hotel corridors, wandering about and shaking hands with all comers, talking about anything with any one who wanted to talk with him.

Ready to "Josh" With Any One.

Not that he became communicative about his own game. Far from that. The ignorance he displayed about some of the matters of commonest knowledge was colossal. Not from anything he had to say could it ever be suspected that he had been the head and front of the shrewdest nominating campaign of modern days. But he was always smiling and affable and ready to "josh" with anybody about anything.

Hitchcock's management of the Taft nominating campaign was a marvel. It was a tremendous surprise to some of the men who had known him longest during his connection with official life in Washington and who should have learned something more of his ability as a politician than they had.

About the corridors and on the streets in Chicago it was a common thing to hear the comment as Hitchcock passed, "There's the best politician in the country."

Mr. Hitchcock was born in Ohio forty years ago. In the Buckeye State both men and women are popularly believed to absorb politics much as a sponge absorbs water, and the man who athe attained. Its practicality really consisted in the foundation he was laying for future opportunity.

Talented as an Organizer.

From the department of agriculture Mr. Hitchcock went to the new department of commerce and labor, where, as chief clerk under George B. Cortelyou, its first secretary, he helped in its organization, putting into substantial practice the faculty of systematizing work which he had developed to a high degree. His work in both these departments involved a great deal of traveling throughout the country. It took him, in fact, into every state and territory in the Union except one, South Dakota.

Some men traveling in that way put in their spare time flirting with hotel waitresses. Others go to theaters or lodge meetings. Some sit around the hotels and gossip or play cards. Hitchcock put in his spare time getting acquainted with the Republican leaders wherever he went. He dropped in at local headquarters and talked over the situation. He called at newspaper offices and got acquainted with "editor, printer and devil." And they talked Republican politics to him. He gained acquaintances and friends among postmasters, judges, United States marshals, revenue officers and pension agents, all the line of federal commission holders, as well as among men whose biggest political experience was a township or county fight. There is a widespread impression that Hitchcock's political endeavor and acquaintance are confined to the south. As a matter of fact, the south is only a minor fraction of the field of his activity.

When David B. Hill was the Democratic master of New York state he had a grip on the local situation in every township that was the amazement of his friends and opponents alike. That is the sort of knowledge Hitchcock has of the whole country. He knows men and conditions everywhere. He made it a business to know them, and what he undertakes in a business way is carried out on scientific principles and with a thoroughness that leaves nothing undone or to chance.

All that acquaintance and knowledge of local situations were brought into effective employment during the Roosevelt campaign of four years ago, when he was assistant secretary of the Republican national committee, of which George B. Cortelyou was chairman. It is a common thing to say that Hitchcock got his political training under Cortelyou. There is no doubt that Secretary Cortelyou is a political adept; but, when it comes to political training, he was born in New York, and Hitchcock is a son of Ohio.

When Cortelyou became postmaster general under Roosevelt, Hitchcock, who had resigned from the department of commerce and labor for the campaign, went into office again as first assistant postmaster general. In that office he had a wide field for the employment of the political skill and information which he had acquired in his previous experience. He had made friends among congressmen before; now he had opportunity to cement such friendships as well as to acquire new ones. It was to assume the management of the Taft campaign that Mr. Hitchcock resigned his place as first assistant postmaster general.

Had Many Fine Offers.

It was not a question of money that took him out of the postoffice department. It was the pure love of the game. He has had business offers before, plenty of them. His is the faculty for organization and execution which attracts the heads of large business concerns and for which they pay fancy salaries. They have been after him numerous, and he has refused them all. Only a few days before he went to Secretary Taft he rejected a business opening that carried several times his postoffice department salary, and it may be said that he did not better himself financially by the change from the department to Taft.

Mr. Hitchcock is a bachelor. There may have been a romance in his life somewhere in the bygone years, but the popular belief is that he never had time for anything but work and that the work of politics furnished his only recreation. Hard work and the ability to inspire in others a joy in hard work make friends who stick, and that is a prime qualification for a politician. Mr. Hitchcock has been making that sort of friends ever since he began politics back in his boyhood days. He has them in every congressional district in the country, which is one of the reasons why he is a powerful factor in the Taft campaign. In the long run in politics the man who has the most and truest friends wins.

His Activity at Harvard.

One member of Frank Hitchcock's class at Harvard, Robert Lincoln O'Brien, now editor of the Boston Transcript, thus describes the college youth:

"He went to Harvard in 1887, about this time casting his first vote. The Republican party in Massachusetts just then was in a bad way. Young men's Republican clubs were organized in various parts of the state, and the leaders in the young men's movement were given a recognition that had heretofore been reserved only for those that wore the badge of long and honorable service. Hitchcock had done a lot of reading on political subjects and was soon enlisted in the young men's movement.

"In his four years at Harvard he was intensely active in Boston local politics. For recreation he won laurels with the boxing gloves and pushed forward the young men's Republican movement in Boston. He did all the things that a heaver of wood and drawer of water in precinct and ward politics is supposed to do. He worked, moreover, with enthusiasm, and he carried on his studies in politics with the re-enforcement of his practical experience in the precinct and ward. He was zealous enough to win the post of precinct committeeman. He didn't want office. He helped collect campaign funds. He canvassed his precinct, and he learned how to get votes.

"He learned how to capture a caucus, preferably by the gentle method of persuasion of a few leading spirits in the locality, but by those drastic methods known to municipal campaigning if necessary. He did so well in his precinct that he was made ward committeeman, and he was repeatedly honored by being selected as delegate to city and state conventions. He thus formed the acquaintance of the leading politicians of Boston and of the state, an acquaintance that has since been valuable. As another evidence of his zeal he was instrumental in the formation of the Young Men's Republican Club of Harvard."

APPEAL FOR THE MULE.

Shall It Not Have a Vacation as Well as the Government Horse?

The postoffice department at Washington having decided to allow all horses owned by it thirty days vacation, the same as its clerks and officials, and as numerous applications have been received from among the 30,000 rural carriers for vacations for their horses, an inquiry has been received from Baltimore as to whether the government mule, from time immemorial a faithful and loyal servant, is to be taken care of. Chief Clerk Conrad recently received the following letter:

"Will you please inform the Baltimore letter carriers if the vacation applies to the government mules of the postoffice of Baltimore, as they are now having a hard time."

It is understood that the postmaster of Baltimore has recently curtailed vacations in his office.

Grouping of Accident Reports.

The American Anti-accident association, whose headquarters are at Sharpville, Pa., recently adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That in view of the appalling number of accidents occurring daily throughout the United States, resulting in the killing and maiming of over 1,600 men, women and children and resulting in enormous financial losses, and recognizing the powerful influence of the public press as an educational factor, the association hereby appeals to the press of America to use its influence in the matter of prevention of accidents by adopting the plan of placing all accidents under a regular heading, as is done with sporting news, financial and other features; further

Resolved, That it is the belief of this association that such featuring of accidents would tend to bring the matter more closely to the attention of the masses, making a deeper impression upon the public mind, causing people to more carefully consider their causes and possible prevention, which, we believe, would result in a lasting benefit to mankind.

TIMBER TESTING MACHINE.

Device to Tell How Much Shock Structures Will Stand.

Bridge builders and contractors for buildings which are intended to carry variable loads will find much of interest in a unique machine designed by the United States government to help them to answer the question which comes up very often, How is the strength of wood affected by repeated shocks? At the present time no satisfactory answer can be given. To fill the need for information on this important subject a special form of impact machine has been designed by the United States forest service to investigate the behavior of wood under repetitive loading, and it is to be built by the University of Washington at Seattle, Wash., and is to form a part of the forest service timber testing station operated in co-operation with the university.

This machine will be provided with a 1,500 pound hammer which can be dropped upon the wood specimens under test from any height up to three feet, says a forest service bulletin. It is so constructed as to be both automatic and autographic. The record showing the behavior of the specimen under test is drawn on a long sheet of paper which constantly unwinds from one cylinder and rolls up on another. This record is drawn by means of a pencil attached to the hammer of the machine. When the machine is started the hammer is automatically raised to a height previously determined, when it falls on the specimen and continues to be raised and dropped until the machine is stopped.

From the results to be obtained from the tests made with this machine the forest service hopes to be able to devise more accurate and reliable methods for calculating the stresses which timbers used in bridges and other structures subject to repetitive loading have to stand.

WHY TURNING HOUSE FAILED.

Mrs. Brace Used to Keep Brace Chasing the Front Stoop.

The recent statement that William Reiman, a jeweler, has had plans drawn for a revolving house at Bay-side, N. Y., caused much interest in Chatham, N. J., because the late George Brace of Meyersville, near Chatham, invented a house of the revolving kind a long time ago. Wesley Bond of Chatham, one of the carpenters employed on its construction, said the other day:

"The house was swung on a turntable, and the table was turned from the dining room. Brace was ingenious, and he combined the dining room table with the wheel to turn the house around, so that he could use the wheel for a table at meal hours and for a wheel when he wanted to turn the house around. His idea was to face the front porch and sleeping rooms toward the breeze in summer and away from the winds in winter.

"It was a great success as far as that feature went, but Brace found it inconvenient. He would come home somewhat overwrought at times, and Mrs. Brace when she heard him coming would turn the house around. The rest of the night he would spend chasing the front stoop. Finally he sent for me, and we plugged up the turntable. The house burned down a little while after that, and when Brace built a new one there wasn't any turning to it."

Island For Caribou.

An island in Lake Superior has been stocked with caribou. Caribou Island, so named because it formerly was noted as a home for the animals, again shelters a herd. Six of the animals have recently been taken to the island, and it is expected they will largely increase in number. The caribou were procured in Newfoundland. The herd on Grand Island, the original members of which came from the Canadian wilds, is attaining goodly proportions. There are no hunters to molest or wolves to prey upon it.

Girl's Record Swim in Mississippi.

Miss Lottie Mayer, a courageous young woman with well developediceps and a robust physique, swam twenty-six miles in the Mississippi from Alton, Mo., to St. Louis the other day, without missing a stroke to rest, in five hours and eighteen minutes. This swim, it is said, never has been made before, except once, nine years ago, when John O. Meyers, floating much of the way on his back, covered the distance in seven hours. Miss Mayer's feat is declared to break the world's record.

FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP.

Emperor of Germany May Send a Challenge.

Kiel, July 21.—The emperor of Germany at various times in the past eighteen months has talked over with yachtmen the feasibility of challenging for the America's cup. The emperor has mentioned the subject to visiting American yachtmen and to members of his suite and would regard the winning of the cup if a competition could be arranged, as a great feat of yachtmanship and as likely to stimulate German enthusiasm in the sport and indirectly advance national pride in things relative to the sea.

The emperor recently commissioned Max Oertz of Hamburg to design a large racing schooner to replace the American-built Meteor, now six years old. Herr Oertz is considered the best yacht designer in Germany. If the emperor's yacht comes up to expectations next June it is not unlikely that the emperor will send to the New York Yacht club a challenge for the America's cup. This however, depends almost entirely upon the performances of the new boat.

WOMAN ENDS THREE LIVES IN EAST RIVER

Sick Mother Drowns Herself and Two Children.

New York, July 21.—Despondent because of ill health and fearful of the fate which might await her two little children if they were left alone to face the world, Mrs. Gussie Benson sought peace for all beneath the waters of the East river. The bodies of the mother and her little ones lie side by side in the morgue awaiting burial.

For several years Mrs. Benson had lived with her husband and children on a South Dakota farm, but when her health failed she decided to return to her old home in this city. With her came the children, a boy of four and a girl of two years of age.

When the change of scene failed to have the hoped-for effect upon her health Mrs. Benson became despondent. She started for a walk with the little ones and did not return. The bodies of the unhappy mother and her children later were picked up in the river. It is believed that Mrs. Benson sprang from a ferryboat with the children in her arms.

Frank Harris Hitchcock

The New Napoleon of Politics, Who Engineered the Nomination of William H. Taft For President—An Enthusiastic Son of Ohio, Often Called "the Best Politician in the Country."

THE Republican national convention recently held at Chicago was a tremendous triumph for Frank Harris Hitchcock, the new Napoleon of politics. It was a great administration victory, President Roosevelt being successful in every move and forcing through his programme without material alteration on any point.

The man who made that possible, says the New York Times, who organized the victory and drilled the forces that won it, was Hitchcock.

Grouping of Accident Reports.

The American Anti-accident association, whose headquarters are at Sharpville, Pa., recently adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That in view of the appalling number of accidents occurring daily throughout the United States, resulting in the killing and maiming of over 1,500 men, women and children and resulting in enormous financial losses, and recognizing the powerful influence of the public press as an educational factor, the association hereby appeals to the press of America to use its influence in the matter of prevention of accidents by adopting the plan of placing all accidents under a regular heading, as is done with sporting news, financial and other features; further

Resolved, That it is the belief of this association that such featuring of accidents would tend to bring the matter more closely to the attention of the masses, making a deeper impression upon the public mind, causing people to more carefully consider their causes and possible prevention, which, we believe, would result in a lasting benefit to mankind.
